In 2011, the average approval time for a plan is 115 days, representing an increase of 90% from the historical average of 60.6 days. Since the oil spill, all deepwater plans that include any type of drilling activity must undergo an environmental assessment (EA) process; for deepwater plans requiring EAs in 2011, the average approval time is 235 days, significantly higher than the overall average approval time.

In 2011, 37% of plans submitted to BOEMRE are being approved, representing a difference of 36% from the historical 73.4% approval rate. The low approval rate in 2010 is largely due to the moratorium which existed from May 31 to October 12, 2010.
